

Economic Freedom and Reforming Foreign Aid

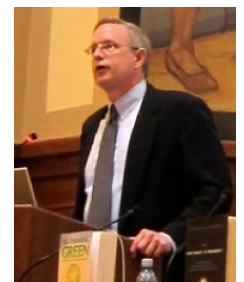

Economics - Debate - History - Government Economic Thinking Workshops

- Date/Time: Thursday, September 20, 6-9 pm
- Lakeside Presbyterian, 2701 W Southlake Blvd, Southlake, TX 76092
- Fee: $10 (Also, PovertyCure DVDs will be available for purchase.)
- Register: Email: Greg Rehmke, grehmke@gmail.com

Over 5,000 homeschool students have attended Economic Thinking workshops on the economics of debate topics.

Economic principles and economic freedom reforms are central to reforming U.S. foreign aid. Current foreign aid programs include hundreds of projects backed by nearly twenty federal agencies. Foreign aid projects range from energy and infectious diseases to health and “family planning,” to military aid and economic development. But much foreign aid is ineffective and intrusive. Local enterprises offer alternatives to improve the lives of poor people and communities.

Gregory Rehmke,
Program Director,
Economic Thinking.
grehmke@gmail.com

Resolved: The United States federal government should substantially reform its foreign aid.

Economic Thinking workshops help students understand economics, public policy, and world affairs. More than 5,000 homeschool students and parents have attended past workshops. Economic Thinking is a program of E Pluribus Unum Films, a Seattle-based nonprofit.